

Reds Call for U.S. Overthrow, Soviet Rule

Federal Agents Say Anarchists Urge Workers to Seize Lands and Destroy Mills to Free Selves

Demand New Government

Presidential Candidates Are Called Dishonest and the "Slaves of Capitalism"

From the Tribune's Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, June 22.—The American Anarchist Federated Commune has issued a call to workers to refuse to participate in the coming elections and to seize industry and government and establish a Soviet system, according to information made available today by the Department of Justice.

A tract labeled "The Show of Deceit is On," which has been widely circulated throughout the country, the department said, condemns both the Republican and Democratic parties, accusing their Presidential candidates of deceit and dishonesty and being the "slaves of capitalism."

The workers' only hope, the Soviet publication asserts, is to strike and to follow the example of the Russian workers and seize property and rise in rebellion. The present state of society, it says, "must be eradicated root and branch." The publication said, in part:

"Election of a President in this country comes, as we all know, every four years. Usually one who has been elected to term, after having served one term, bids for another one on the assumption that four years was sufficient time in which to carry out the promises made during the campaign.

"In every election up to 1912 the chief ammunition used to fool the voter with, since then, however, new issues, livelier ones, more deceitful, more misleading and more alluring, had to be brought forth in order to stimulate the people's dying interest."

President Is Condemned
After condemning Cleveland, McKinley, Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson, the anarchists have this to say about the President:

"But how does this new 'savior' of the people appear now? He involved the country in a class war, a loss to the nation of 50,000 strong, fine men and youths, who were killed; made about 400,000 cripples, maimed, money, etc., drained from the people, the workers' pockets—all that, and say? For the mere benefit of the Allied and American capitalists, whose gambling stocks and territorial ambitions were at stake. The workers, as you see, were fully deceived again.

"This same savior, who was elected on a platform one of its planks being that in no case should the government by any form of injustice place itself against the workers—this same hypocritical, goodly-looking charlatan invoked the injunction against the miners who went out on strike. This same pretender fooled the railroad workers time after time, and these workers (as well as all others) will never again do anything until they stop everything to this misleader of the workers and spokesman of American capitalists. This same 'friend' of the people keeps imprisoned thousands of workers, their only crime being that they refused to believe in the 'holy' purposes of the war, the 'holiness' of which he himself, Mr. Wilson, had already declared in a St. Louis speech to have been nothing but rank and simple 'commercialism.'"

"Well, you may perhaps ask, and you will be perfectly right in doing so, 'what do you propose instead?' We are not satisfied with things as they are. Every one of you workers knows that by participating in a single strike you gain more than through all the elections that you have ever taken part in. To free yourselves you must destroy factories and mills and forests. This you can do by going out on strike as often as possible, then by going out on general strikes, of entire industries and cities. By following the examples of the Russians, you can organize the workers' soviets. When out on strike do not starve or go ragged; seize all food stores. Take over the factories, mines and warehouses. Reorganize the products of labor to all the producers.

"To accomplish this, you must not only refuse to participate in elections, but begin, immediately, to organize into workers' commune soviets and rise in rebellion against the present society. Just as our ancestors fought to free themselves in the eighteenth century from the British imperialist powers, so must we, in the twentieth century, fight and free ourselves from the great slavery of our exploiting capitalist powers of America. Are you willing to do that which will bring you freedom or will you keep on trusting to relieve your misery and enslavement by being constantly fooled through elections, and continue to stay in your present miserable existence, by each new savior scoundrel?"

"The present state of society is a deadly disease. Such a disease cannot be cured by any 'friends' of the people or reformers, but must be entirely eradicated—root and branch. The only thing that can and will kill the disease of the present system of capitalist exploitation is revolution and the formation of workers' commune soviets."

Ireland Faces Rail Tie-Up in Guerrilla War

Nation-Wide Strike Threatened as Workers Refuse to Carry Troops and Martial Law Seems Probable

Police Director Shot

Ambushed, Auto Fired On; Ulsterites Execute Sinn Feiner; Rioting Spreads

LONDON, June 22.—To-day's events in Ireland included a daring daylight attack in the heart of Dublin by men armed with revolvers and two bombs upon Assistant Inspector General Roberts of the Royal Irish Constabulary, a fresh outbreak at dawn of fighting between loyalists and Sinn Féiners in Londonderry and the approach of a crisis in the railway strike situation.

Yet even with the country aflame north and south with guerrilla warfare there is hope, slight but still held out by those who know, that revolution will not develop out of the present scattered carnage.

Of the day's developments the industrial warfare threatened by the railwaymen is by far the most serious, because a nation-wide rail strike could only conceivably be met by a declaration of martial law.

Refuse to Carry Troops
The railwaymen maintain their refusal to carry police troops. The government still holds its hand, for the Cabinet realizes the gravity of a decision which would put Ireland under military rule.

Aside from Londonderry, where the initiative in the factional warfare has been assumed by the Ulster Loyalists—to-day they stood a Sinn Féiner against a wall, shot him to death and then refused to permit an ambulance to carry away the man while he was in a dying condition—the Sinn Féiners hold the whip hand in the situation. Apparently they have not deviated from the policy of embarrassing the government at every turn and creating chaotic conditions on every hand. But they still do not want a showdown fight with the British military—"at a cost of 1,000,000 lives and five years' warfare," as Lloyd George put it, and so they merely continue harassing the government and police throughout the country until almost the very limit of England's patience has been reached, and leave the initiation of civil war to the government.

Fired On From Ambush

The attack on Roberts was one of the most sensational in years. Armed men lay hidden under the arches of the railway bridge near the courthouse until an automobile containing Roberts and three police constables passed. A volley of revolver fire raked the air and two bombs which missed their mark were hurled by the assailants at the speeding car.

The driver of the automobile was badly wounded in both legs, but maintained control of his machine until at breakneck speed he had swept out of range. There he collapsed as he brought the car safely to a halt. Roberts was wounded in the head. The constables in the car tried to protect the body of their chief with their own and they attempted to return the fire of the assailants, but, so far as is known, all the latter escaped uninjured.

At Brosna British troops were fired upon. Several who were captured by the Sinn Féiners were led off as "prisoners of war."

Assailed in Commons

In the House of Commons to-day there were vigorous attacks on the government for the weakness of its policy in Ireland, while from the Labor party conference at Scarborough, came a bitter attack on the government for its stand. This contradiction is typical of the situation nowadays and shows the difficulty of presenting events in their true dress and color. Whereas, on one side one hears only of Sinn Féin outrages and the government is condemned for not taking drastic action, there is a large body of opinion which holds that the situation is the result of the government's failure to recognize Irish affairs in their true light and conciliate the Irish people.

The propaganda issued at Sinn Féin headquarters here to-day asserts that 115 police officials in Ireland, most of them men who had been more than twenty years in the service, have resigned in the last month and declares that the policy of terrorism being pursued by the military and police forced their resignations.

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, June 22 (By The Associated Press).—Civil war continued here throughout to-day with one more death, bringing the total list to eight. Troops were protecting some of the principal streets this afternoon, but enough firing was going on to terrify the citizens and keep them indoors, resulting in a stoppage of all usual activities.

The magistrates at a meeting this afternoon decided to send a second urgent request to Dublin Castle for military reinforcements and the institution of martial law. Telegrams also were sent to the Attorney General urging the necessity of the immediate dispatch of troops.

General suffering is expected if deliveries of foodstuffs are not resumed soon. Mail from the morning train was taken to the police by military escort, but was permitted to remain there undelivered, as the postmen feared to venture on the streets.

Channel Sailings Suspended

Cross-channel sailings have been suspended. Several boats are lying up in the harbor awaiting an opportunity to discharge, which is impossible at present, with firing going on about the docks.

The promised military reinforcements had not arrived up to a late hour this afternoon. During the night sandbags and other barricades were thrown up by the Unionists and Nationalists.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning firing was heard in many parts of the town. Later crowds of the rival factions were seen marching about, carrying arms openly. One crowd wrecked a saloon on the water front, and what intoxicants the crowd did not drink were thrown into the street. The crowd did not disperse until the police had charged several times. There was much firing, but no serious casualties resulted.

Held Against Wall and Shot

William Kane, who was shot at 8 o'clock this morning, died an hour later. He stated he was held against a wall and shot by a man whose name he gave. Two others were wounded to-day, both non-combatants, who were proceeding along the street. The condition of two of those wounded Sunday is serious.

The funeral of Edwin Price, who was killed Saturday night, drew a large attendance to-day, although it had been announced it would be private. Price came from the United States to join an Ulster regiment during the war.

Declares Government Beaten

LONDON, June 22 (By The Associated Press).—Moving the adjournment of the House of Commons to call attention to the rioting in Londonderry, Lieutenant Colonel Wilfrid Ashley, Unionist, declared to-day that victory rested with the assassins and not with the government, which appeared powerless to maintain the sanctity of life.

The Chief Secretary for Ireland and the Viceroy, he said, were prisoners in their own houses. The officials of Dublin Castle were equally prisoners and obliged to take exercise in the castle grounds. The nations of the world were pointing the finger of scorn at England's inability to maintain her authority in Ireland. He demanded martial law and more troops.

Full Authority Given

The Right Honorable Denis Henry, Attorney General for Ireland, replying to the criticisms of Colonel Ashley

Gen. Campbell Sent to End Londonderry Riots

LONDON, June 22.—Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, in reply to a question in the House of Commons to-day, declared he considered there was an adequate military force in Londonderry to deal with the situation. This view was also held by the Chief Secretary for Ireland, he said.

Mr. Bonar Law said the government had ordered General Campbell, commanding officer in that district, to proceed from Belfast to Londonderry with full power to deal with the situation as he saw fit.

And other speakers, threw little new light on the situation. He said the officials in Ireland had been given full authority to call for whatever was necessary and to adopt measures considered desirable, and the police and troops had been given the utmost initiative, their instructions being to be have precisely as on the battlefield.

He regarded the situation in Dublin as worse than in Londonderry and in this connection he expressed approval of the suggestion made in the course of the debate to invite the assistance of the loyal men of all parties to help in keeping order.

The government accepted an amendment to the Home Rule bill proposing that the Irish representation in the Imperial Parliament should be forty-six instead of forty-two members, in order to include four representatives of the Irish universities in the interest of the minorities of South Ireland.

Prince Made Governor General

LONDON, June 22.—Prince Arthur of Connaught has been appointed Governor General of the Union of South Africa. He will succeed Viscount Buxton.

New Official Dissector Of Infernal Machines

James A. Callahan, at $1,800 a Year, Will Spend Time Taking Bombs to Pieces

New York again has an official bomb inspector. James A. Callahan, formerly assistant to Owen Egan, the most famous dissector of infernal machines on the continent, yesterday was appointed to fill his former chief's shoes. Inspector Egan died suddenly last March.

The job is not one which appeals to the ordinary individual. The pay is $1,800 annually, there is no pension, and Third Avenue and insurance companies smile sardonically when it is suggested to them that they might insure a man who spends his days taking bombs to pieces to find out what makes them explode. This is Callahan's job. Egan filled it with notable success from 1905 until his death. Before Egan took hold there was no such position. Anything that looked like a bomb was carried to the nearest waterfront and dropped into the river.

The new inspector of combustibles was appointed Egan's assistant in 1915, after Egan had had two fingers of his right hand torn off by a bomb designed for Judge Otto Rosalsky. He will follow Egan's methods, and his headquarters for a while will be at Engine Company 8, at Fifty-first Street and Third Avenue.
